Mohobo Primary School receives a media classroom

27 September 2017

The Department of Water and Sanitation (DWS) handed over the media classroom to Mohobo Primary School at Kutlwanong, Odendaalsrus on Friday, 22 September as part of Baswa le Meetse Competition.

Mohobo Primary School became the winners of Baswa le Meetse Competition in the drama category last year and MTN came on board to sponsor the media classroom.

The handover was officiated by the MEC for Education, Mr Tate Makgoe on behalf of Water and Sanitation Deputy Minister, Pamela Tshwete. The handover ceremony was also attended by members of the Free State Provincial Legislature, DWS Regional Head, and representatives from Local Government and Sedibeng Water Board members.

Delivering a keynote address, MEC Makgoe applauded MTN for such an initiative and said private and public partnership is very important for the country to achieve certain things.

He expressed his gratitude on the hard work done by the school, MTN foundation and DWS affording the Information Communication Technology facility to a very rural community that will assist the learners in their studies. Furthermore, he encouraged educators and learners to participate in such programmes to gain more experience and knowledge and to become better people in their communities.

“As the number one leading Province in Matric results or best results we don’t only excel academically but in arts we are also visible and Mohobo made us proud to scoop position one for the Province”.

The media classroom that was handed over to the school is equipped with twenty one (21) computers and an interactive board that will be utilised for school projects. Computers can be utilised by school learners at prescribed times.
