

DEPARTMENT OF WATER AND SANITATION

South Africa is a water-scarce country, use water sparingly

CATCHMENT MANAGEMENT AGENCIES

The National Water Act (Act 36 of 1998) provides a mandate to establish Catchment Management Agencies (CMA) for the decentralised management of water resources, to ensure the long-term equitable, effective and sustainable management of water resources in South Africa. The establishment of CMAs enables the promotion of equity through more effective water resources management and greater responsiveness to the needs of poor and marginalised communities arising from the closer links with stakeholdergroups in the Water Management Area (WMA). In addition, the Department continues to have a significant role in ensuring that the voice of small users and disadvantaged communities are heard and in ensuring that the CMAs address redress and equity as priorities.
