3. Appendix A.1, the CV template has a section where we have to list case studies or projects, please confirm whether we should add the description / nature of the investigation and the client's name or we list client names that the individual has previously done work for.

Answer: Appendix A.1 is intended to capture key staff members' CV, it practically requires individual team members' knowledge and experience not company experience. Therefore, what needs to be captured is the field where one practiced before, the period during which they practiced, years in numbers, the name of the organisation an individual worked at, the position they occupied, description of their duties as well as they type of cases or matters they worked on.

This is purely relating to Key staff members experience, years of experience and the projects they worked on. As a result, organisation refers to where the individual worked before (employer)
