DWS welcomes the gazetting of the integrated infrastructure projects

11 August 2020

Water infrastructure is one of the key pillars of economic growth which in turn responds to the socio-economic needs of South Africans. Water contributes to the economy and job creation.

For this reason, the Department of Water and Sanitation (DWS) welcomes this gazette of integrated infrastructure projects by the Honourable Minister of Public Works and Infrastructure, Patricia de Lille.

Accordingly, the Phase 2A of the Mokolo-Crocodile Water Augmentation Project in Limpopo and the Raising of Clanwilliam Dam Project on the West Coast of the Western Cape are some of the projects which are part of the gazette and are set to increase water supply and create the much-needed job opportunities for the 2 regions.

The gazetting of the integrated projects will go a long way in holistically ensuring the management of infrastructure in development, as well as maintenance.

DWS is painfully aware that there have been unjustifiable delays in the implementation of some water and sanitation infrastructure projects across the country. We apologize profusely for the delays.

We also plead with communities and investors to exercise patience as we fast track the implementation of the current and upcoming projects.
