

7. CHANNEL CROSS SECTION:

On the two cross sections provided, note the features present at the site. These sections together give a composite profile of the site. The channel should be considered in three component parts, the left hand bank, the central channel and the right hand bank. NB. For any component you may tick features on both cross-sections, or only one as appropriate. In the example below only the lower section is applicable.

Looking upstream

RHB

LHB

Looking downstream

LHB

RHB

