

IDENTIFYING STAKEHOLDERS: WHO USES WATER FOR WHAT?

STAKEHOLDERS

Forestry companies
Mining companies
Industries
SA Agricultural Union
National African Farmers Union
Local farmers unions
Department of Minerals and Energy
Department of Agriculture
Department of Constitutional Development
Department of Land Affairs
Department of Trade and Industry
Relevant provincial government departments
Local government

SECTORS/GROUPS

Forestry
Industry
Mining
Agriculture
Emerging farmers
Dept Constitutional Development
Committees
Dept Land Affairs Committees
Authorities
Professional Associations
Etc

SECTORS/GROUPS

Environmental bodies
Conservation bodies
Parks, Nature Reserves, Tourism
"Green" NGOs
Authorities
Professional Associations
Etc

STAKEHOLDERS

Olifants Reserve
Kruger Park
Boating Club
Canoe Club
Angling Associations
Wildlife Society
Department of Environmental Affairs and Tourism (national, provincial)
Environmental Planning
Professions Committee
Etc

And anyone else who believes they are affected or interested

STAKEHOLDERS

Local government
Water boards
Water Services Committees
Irrigation Boards (Water User Associations)
Women's groupings
Church bodies
Department of Welfare
Department of Housing
Labour unions
Water Services Committees
Relevant provincial government departments
Etc

Figure 1. Identifying stakeholders from each of the three dimensions of sustainability (economic growth, social equity, ecological integrity) (Greyling and Manyaka, 1999).