Bedford Cranes on the rise again?

During the annual sub union tournament that took place in Bedford on Sat 28 February, Cranes again showed why teams cannot take them lightly. In their opening game they were drawn against their home boys Bedford Crusaders. If this was not the game of the day then I don't know. These 2 teams took each other on with everything they got, and gave the spectators value for their money. The evidence that it was a true, honest, hard battle was evident when after the game there were no hard feelings and the players could shake hands and congratulate the winner, in this instance Cranes who won with last minute penalty 13-10. Cranes advanced to quarter finals where they met up with Rangers. This game was going to be another magnificent game, but it was clouded in controversy. A few dodgy decisions took all the shine away from the game. We should really look at getting all our match officials up to standard to avoid the embarrassment that the linesman caused during this game. After deliberation the executive committee of Midlands concurred to hand the game to Rangers. We are sure both teams do not want to win games outside the fields. However given the standard of rugby that Cranes dished out on the day, teams certainly have to take note that the team is on an upward curve again. The executive committee of Cranes want to take this opportunity to wish Mr. L. Loots a speedy recovery and want to state that we hope EP will deal with the culprits of Barbarians in a correct, hard and proper manner. There is no place for thugs in rugby. Kubho Cranes, kubho!!

Bedford Golf Report

Not just a bunch of pretty faces – that best captures the outstanding performance of the “Bedford Belles” during Saturday's Betterball competition, when they proved they could wield a golf club just as effectively as their lipstick, and arguably to more devastating effect. It wasn't at first obvious that the fairer sex would prevail, given the testosterone-heavy field of 20 players, 16 of whom were men. They included some welcome passing trade in the form of Pieter Louw, Mike Beamish and newcomer Brendan Wicks, who was to discover that playing our course is no walk in the park. The five four-balls did battle in perfectly ordained cool weather. By the time everyone was back in the clubhouse and the scores began to fill the blackboard, there was an unmistakable metaphorical whiff of perfume in the air. First on 46 points were

Anne Knox and Barbara “Now-you-see-me-now-you-don't” Scott. Second on 45, after a count-out, were Liz Bowker and Robyn Wienand. Robyn came crashing through 100 for the first time, scoring 94, or a net 63. Her handicap was immediately cut by two. Third on 45 points, defending the honour of the men, were Drix White and Nick Bowker. “Whose idea was it to let women into golf anyway?” one of the men was heard to say in jest. Just as well Kim wasn't there too... Drix got the only two-club, on the 13th. Of the day's memorable shots, Brendan Wicks produced a monster drive of 270 metres on the 12th; Pieter Louw chipped in for par on the 12th; and Robyn chipped in for par on the 5th. Shot of the Day, uncontestedly, came from Mike Beamish on the par-four 3rd, when he chipped in for birdie out of the long rough, some 15 metres out. Eagle
